◆ Links to other Engineering Societies

Preferred or discounted rates for CSCE members are available for those wishing membership in the Canadian Geotechnical Society (CGS), the Canadian Society for Engineering Management (CSEM), the Canadian Society for Mechanical Engineering (CSME) and the American Society for Civil Engineers (ASCE). CSCE members may benefit from the Agreement of Cooperation with engineering societies in more than 20 countries worldwide.

Reciprocity with ASCE:

ASCE and CSCE offer their members full participation in national meetings, conferences and continuing education courses at their respective member rates, payable in the currency of the sponsoring society.

◆ International Programs

Qualified members may volunteer their time for missions requiring specific expertise and experience. Past CIDA-sponsored programs have focused on sustainable development in China and Pakistan, and on engineering accreditation in Jamaica. Members should submit their résumé accompanied by a letter detailing their availability and proposed goals.

◆ Honours and Awards Program

Members who meet the criteria may be recognized by their peers with career and “best paper” awards, presented formally at the Annual Conference Awards Banquet.

◆ Technical Publications

Conference Proceedings, ASCE and ICE publications.
